The surface of the aluminum is converted into an aluminum oxide as a result of reactions arising in an acid solution and electricity. The end result is a technical wonder that offers many inherent advantages. Anodized aluminum plates metal advantages1. COST AND PRODUCTION EFFICIENCYAnodized aluminum seed comes clean and ready for immediate fabrication. Anodized aluminum weighs about 60% less than stainless, brass and copper - several parts per pound. The anodic layer is three times harder than the aluminium itself and provides a natural durability not found in copper, brass and stainless steel. This means less handling damage during shipping and installation and better durability down the line.2. BEAUTY AND VERSATILITYAnodized aluminum sheets can be manufactured in a brake, roll-shaped, stamped, laser engraved, laminated, perforated, welded, embossed and silk screened. Anodized aluminium can be treated to any color in the visible light spectrum and match all custom needs. The coil anodization process ensures consistent color from start to finish and edge to edge of the aluminum coil. The transparent oxide layer highlights the rich metallic appearance of aluminium and does not cover it up as paint. The aluminum oxide layer will not chip, flake or peel like paint, patina as copper, rust like steel or weather like brass. Anodized aluminum sheet colors1. black anodized aluminum sheetHenan Huawei aluminum utilizes an exciting new two-stage continuous coil anodization process. This ensures enormous color uniformity and an incredibly long life, excellent for exterior use. Our black anodized aluminum sheet is highly resistant to wear and is perfectly suited for braking. The anodized aluminium plates are recommended for outdoor use due to their fade resistance and can be used in a wide variety of unique design applications. BLACK ANODIZED ALUMINUM METER AND SHEET SIZE OPTIONSOur black anodized aluminum sheets are available in gauges of .032, .040, .063. Wrisco Industries Inc. offers a wide range of stock sizes, but also welcomes custom size offers. All sheets are leveled, sheeted, blank and split. CAN I ORDER OTHER COLORS OF PRE-FINISHED ALUMINIUM? Yes. We have over 50 coloured aluminium products in our inventory, including our black-gloss pre-painted aluminium finish. We offer pre-painted aluminium metal along with other anodized metal color schemes, and pre-painted aluminium (70% PVDF). Fluoropon offers excellent color consistency and superior resistance to most harmful pollutants. See our color chart or contact us today for non-stock color finish requests. The advantages of our black anodized aluminium durabilityAluminium is a very durable material that can serve a wide variety of purposes, especially in construction. But once anodized, the surface of aluminium becomes even tougher than it was before. And this is because anodized aluminium creates a surface that is three times harder than standard aluminium offers. Moreover, the anodized surface will not chip, flake or peel, especially when treated to add color. Thanks to the anodization process carried out with controlled oxidation of the aluminium, the finished product will never rust or weather. In summary, anodized aluminium is one of the toughest and most versatile metal products on the market. And when you order black anodized aluminium from us, we feel more than sure that you will be satisfied with the quality. Lightweight In general, aluminium is very light Compared to stainless steel, copper and brass, it weighs about 60% less. And because of this, it does it material much more cost-effective which in return will do very little harm to the bank. On top of that, the lightweight quality can help solve a myriad of design problems. Whatever you have to do with terms of the architecture or design of consumables, when you need a durable, appealing and also lightweight metal material, anodized black aluminium will give you the most versatile solutions. CostThanks to its lightweight qualities, our anodized black aluminium costs much less to ship to a job or production facility. More so, its strength to weight ratio also helps to give consumers a lower overall cost per square meter for use in projects unlike other metals (steel, bronze, zinc, brass, and copper) while it still offers the same visual effects. Another reason why aluminium is so cost effective is because there is so much of it in the world and it is renewable. Because it is the only metal that is 100% recyclable, the environmental footprint is much smaller compared to other products. So when you want to take advantage of the cheapest metal around, you can count on our black anodized aluminium to be the right product for you. AppearanceOur black anodized aluminium will certainly add beauty to any project that you perform. Thanks to the anodizing process, your anodized black aluminium will come out shinier than what typical aluminium is. Usually, if you find that you want to add appeal to your building or any other construction project, you can never go wrong with our black anodized aluminium.
